the discussion on its bill. Both ry, houses have cut the salaries, and the aggregate saving will reach several thousand dollars and will hardly be felt. The place for reform appears to be in the judicial department which during the past two years absorbed sixty per cent of the entire gross revenue of the State. In other words out of an appropriation of $5,300,000 for the past two years the judicial department in round numbers used $5,000,000 four fifths of it criminal business, and nine

It is curious to note how a city police force can evade their duties. Since the Parkhurst campaign in New York and the revelations made in New Orleans, the attention of cities all over the country has been called to the police departments and Austin has not escaped. It has been a marvel here for sometime why the police do not enforce the state and city laws. It is no longer so. The tenths of this statisticians say police here are not sworn to execute the laws. The city laws require each policeman to be sworn in as follows. "Before entering upon their duties the violations without having his
